

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

February 18, 1988

Dear Andrew:

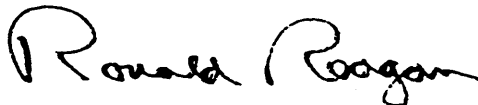

I was delighted to receive the delegation of Afghan resistance leaders at the White House last November, and I was glad to greet you as well.

The ideal of freedom burns brightly in the hearts of the Afghan people. They are engaged in a life-and-death struggle to throw off the chains of foreign domination and regain their heritage of independence.

Organizations like yours, which involve citizens in the political process and create bipartisan support to help other nations achieve their goal of freedom, represent all that is best in the American spirit.

It is my profound wish that, when next we meet, it will be to celebrate the triumph of freedom in Afghanistan.

Sincerely,
